Alan Yuter represents insurers in coverage and bad faith litigation arising from all types of insurance policies. He also has extensive experience in handling matters before the Court of Appeal and Supreme Court.

Alan has taken numerous examinations under oath and has supervised investigations on suspected insurance fraud. Additionally, he has testified as an expert witness on insurance matters, including insurance coverage and claim handling issues. Alan has also acted as an arbitrator of insurance disputes and has numerous appellate decisions, including many decisions published by the California Court of Appeals and the California Supreme Court, in addition to the appellate courts of other states. Many of his published decisions have developed important principles in California insurance law.

Alan has a degree in economics from Cornell University and received his law degree from Georgetown University Law School in 1981. He has practiced law in California continuously since that time. He is admitted in all courts in California, including all federal courts and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.
