Linda Wendell Hsu is the Managing Partner of the firm's San Francisco office and is a member of the firm's Cyber Law, Insurance, and Commercial Litigation practice groups. She launched the San Francisco office opening in 1996 when it included just two attorneys and one secretary. Under Linda's leadership, the office currently employs dozens of lawyers and a full legal staff.

For more than 20 years, Linda has focused her practice on insurance coverage and insurance bad faith litigation. She handles all first- and third-party insurance coverage issues involving all types of insurance policies, including personal and commercial auto, homeowners, CGL, and all types of professional errors & omissions policies. She has authored countless coverage opinions, has mediated hundreds of cases, and litigates both declaratory relief and bad faith actions, through trial if necessary.

Linda is licensed to practice law in California, Washington D.C., and Washington state. In particular, the state of Washington is a hotbed of insurance coverage and bad faith litigation. Linda has developed a positive reputation in representing insurers in that state, and is known for insulating her clients from bad faith claims.

As a leader in the firm's Cyber Law practice, Linda regularly assists her clients with cyber risk management and program evaluations.

A frequent speaker, Linda has spoken on insurance issues at numerous seminars for several organizations, including the Association of Defense Counsel, bad faith seminars throughout California, basic training programs for new lawyers, the Defense Research Institute, and Claims and Litigation Management Alliance, to name just a few.
